Border control

- Your passport and Esta is everything that is required to travel to US
 - However, it is not a guarantee
- Make sure that you aren't bringing anything illegal with you
 - Powered devices and portable power banks need to go in carry-on
 - Anything sharp (tweezers, scissors..) into checked luggage
 - Personal medicine is okay to bring in carry-on and checked luggage, with a proof of prescription, that you can obtain from e.g. a pharmacy
 - Check the border control website for details:
 - <https://www.cbp.gov/travel/us-citizens/know-before-you-go/prohibited-and-restricted-items>
- And, check TSA sites for a comprehensive list
 - <https://www.tsa.gov/travel/security-screening/whatcanibring/all>

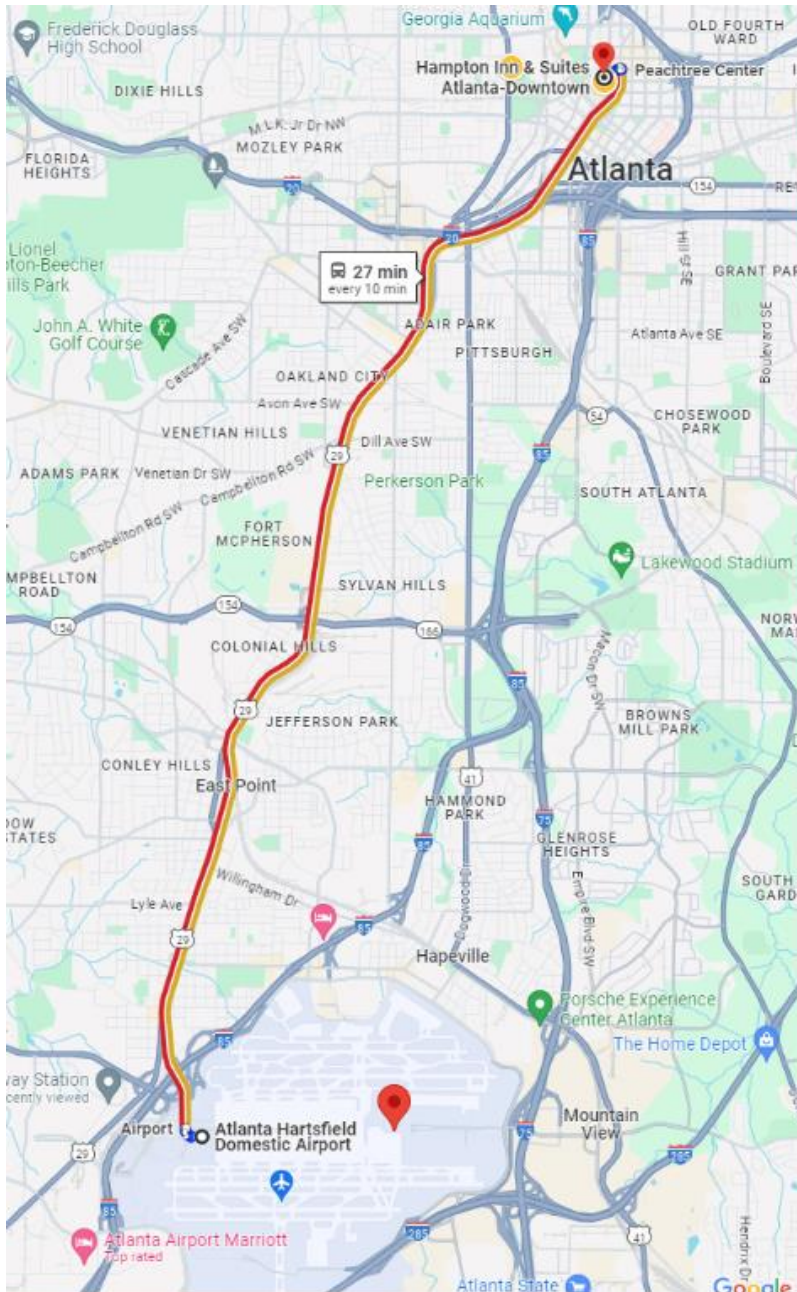

Border control

- Depending on luck (and other factors), you might be presented with a number of questions at either border
- Typical questions:
 - Where are you traveling to, and where will you stay at the destination?
 - How long is your trip?
 - Is it a business or holiday trip? What will you plan to do in the US?
 - What is the conference about? How many are attending?
 - Sometimes also just random questions about your life
- At the US end:
 - Similar questions
 - Might ask about your checked luggage
 - E.g. Are you bringing a gun with you, sharp objects?
 - Medication, drugs, chemicals?
 - Food, seeds...
